Every law-abiding citizen will wish that Frank James lived in New Jersey.

Ex-Governor Stanford, of California, has 6,000 acres of grapes, and next year will have 25,000.

The golden spike was driven in the Northern Pacific to-day. Jay Cooke held the spike and Henry Villard used the hammer.

Senator Sherman draws thousands together when he speaks in Ohio, and he makes a good many speeches.

Ever since the tide set in against the democrats in Ohio, they say the state is full of malaria. That is a very charitable name for it.

There is no sign of a bluish coming from Missouri on account of the James verdict. That state is certainly a black spot on the union.

One paper asks, "Is there no hope of reform in our telegraphic service?" There does not seem to be any. You might as well try to reform the democratic party.

Twenty-three years ago to-day the Lady Elgin went down on Lake Michigan, and 800 persons lost their lives thereby. In memory of that sad event mass was sung at St. John's cathedral, at Milwaukee to-day.

Actors and actresses are not always paid what they are relatively worth. Miss Ellen Terry, the leading lady with Mr. Henry Irving, will receive $1,500 a week, and is a splendid artist, but Mrs. Langtry, who can't act at all, made $3,000 a week.

It is said that Mr. W. H. Vanderbilt has given away three million dollars in charities that the world knows nothing about, and not even his left hand knows how generous his right hand was. This is scriptural giving. He has some $197,000,000 left for a rainy day.

If the Villard excursionists drink all the wines they have with them, they will imagine the Western Pacific road is laid with golden rails and that the country along the route is a perpetual bloom. Much wine produces a very rosy imagination.

Jay Gould stated a truth in his testimony before the senate sub-committee when he said that the children of rich men generally squandered the wealth they inherited. It is dissipated on the principle that money easily acquired is quickly spent.

It was never known before that malaria would attack one political party and pass by another. But this seems to be the case in Ohio. The democrats have got it bad, and whisky and quinine do not seem to help them. It is fortunate that the democrats can make a scape-goat of malaria.

That very democratic newspaper, the Atlanta Constitution, says: "Perhaps after all, the defeat of the democrats in Ohio this fall will be a good thing for the party in this long run." The Constitution might as well have added that the defeat of the democrats always proves a good thing for the country. Experience has taught this for twenty-three years.

Probably this is too raw for an intelligent public but it comes from an eastern paper: "The engineer of the gas-burning locomotive which was tried last week in New Haven, says that he has at times put out the fire on trips with loaded cars going up grade, let her run for some time on the strength of the accumulated steam, and then relit the jets in time to keep the engine working."

The old saying that "corn is the surest crop that grows," will hardly be accepted as the truth this season. Frosts are reported in many sections of the country—which came two or three weeks too early for the welfare of that crop. Under the most favorable circumstances corn would hardly be out of danger before the 20th or 25th of the month. As it is, the hope for an average crop is almost blasted. The effect of this condition of things is to make lively and exciting work on 'Change in Chicago, and to increase the price of corn. Those who have been pretty well stocked up, can smile at frosts.

Mr. W. H. Vanderbilt, who appreciates good singing, has offered Miss Emma Thursby $10,000 a year to sing in the choir of St. Bartholomew's church on Sundays. She has not, so rumor says, accepted the offer, and probably will not, as she intends to sing in concert the coming season and does not want to be compelled to go to New York once a week to sing in church. It is said that the average salary of a singer in a quartet choir in New York is $500.

Some Washington bar-tender, who has waited on hundreds of tipping congressmen, has furnished a newspaper with the favorite drinks of a few prominent members. There is quite a temperance lecture in it: Senator Dwyer, gin and sugar; Ferry, of Michigan, sherry (in his room); David Davis, sherry and whisky (in his room); Coke, Bayard, Jones, Vest, Holman, Phil. Cook, of Georgia, sugar and whisky; Jones, of Florida (big glass), Lapham, Clark, of Missouri, Van Horne, Edmunds, Anthony, Proctor, Knott (Bourbon), Page, of California, and George, of Oregon, whisky, straight; Maxey, of Texas, lemonade; Pendleton, whisky punch; Eaton, of Connecticut, whisky and wine (drank at the bar stand, ing, and in silence, and all by himself);

Armstrong, of Missouri, whisky and lemon, forty drops; Beck, hot Scotch, "Carro Gordo" Williams, whisky toddy.

THE NORTHERN PACIFIC.

One of the greatest achievements in railway building on this continent, is that of the Northern Pacific, which was formally opened to-day. While the last spike was driven near Independence, Montana, at three o'clock in the afternoon of August 23d, the ceremony of driving the golden spike at the same place was performed to-day in the presence of three hundred and fifty of the most distinguished men that ever came together at one time and place in this country.

While the building of the Northern Pacific has been a marvel in some respects, it will be remembered that capital knows no obstacle. To be sure, that road like all other great enterprises, had its struggles as well as its triumphs, but it had the power of a matchless government to back it. When the Northern Pacific was chartered in 1864, congress gave it a land grant of twenty square miles for each mile of road through Minnesota and Oregon, and forty square miles for each mile of road through the territories of Dakota, Idaho, and Washington. The acreage of this vast tract of land aggregated $2,300,000. Of this amount about 5,000,000 acres have been sold, which gave the company $18,000,000. Just how much the Northern Pacific will make out of the remaining 37,000,000 acres cannot be estimated. Some of the land is comparatively worthless, while other tracts will sell all the way from $3 to $10 an acre. Some estimate the receipts from the land department will, in time, reach over $40,000,000, but this estimate is doubtless exaggerated, as a very large quantity of the land will not be sold in this generation.

The cost of the road, according to a semi-official report, is $117,000,000, which would make nearly $60,000 a mile, but those who know the facts especially belonging to railway construction, say that the road did cost more than $30,000 a mile. However that may be, the road is finished, and is a credit to the enterprise of this country, and to the liberality of congress. The total debt of the company is only $45,000,000, and a few years of fair success in managing the road and in selling its lands, will wipe that entirely out.

"WHAT SHALL THE BOYS DO?"

This question has been asked a thousand times in the newspapers within the past few years, and it has been asked in vain. In large cities the question is far more important than in small ones or in country towns where there is not so much "busy idleness" as in the commercial centers where thousands of young men look for positions as clerks and bookkeepers. Not half of them find the places they want and consequently drag out a miserable life, a burden to themselves and disgrace to their parents. The Gazette stated a few days ago, on the authority of the Philadelphia Times, that in the city of New York there are at the present time 5,000 bookkeepers out of employment, and of the 23,000 who have more or less steady employment in that calling in that city very few receive over $25 per week, while a far greater number are glad to accept $10 or $15. A business man of the city lately advertised for a clerk at $10 a week and had seven hundred applications for the place. The surplus of young men who are seeking genteel employment will be found as great in other cities as in New York in proportion to the population; and the truth of this statement can be readily attested by an examination of the advertising columns of the great daily journals in the large cities. Now, more than ever before, there is a rush for the professions, and that employment which is comparatively light and pronounced by society as genteel. There are thousands of boys who begin their career on a farm who soon get tired of country life, and they run to the city. Others, born in the city, grow up without any settled avocations, and by the time they are twenty-one or twenty-five, they become veterans in the army of young men who have nothing in particular to do, and still are poor. They are too proud to learn a trade, or too lazy and independent to work on a farm, and haven't got brains enough to succeed in any of the learned professions. In seeking semi-genteel employment they become "semi-judes," and altogether worthless.

It does not matter just now who is to blame for this condition of things. That condition exists, and the question is how can it be improved? The chief responsibility rests with parents and teachers. They should first learn, if possible, what a boy is most capable of doing—what his aptitudes are—and then educated and trained according to what these aptitudes demand. He should be taught that labor of any kind is honorable, and that what he could do best should be his calling, no matter whether it was to make shoes or carriages, raise cattle or butcher them, or build houses or toil on the farm. A boy who has had proper training, and who is at all apt, can't be kept in idleness and obscurity. He will come up in spite of discouraging and adverse circumstances, as Jay Gould and John Roush have done, and whose testimony before the senate sub-committee on labor and capital, as to the history of their early lives, and first business ventures, is well worth studying.

It is only by practical education and industrial training that young men can be saved from the idleness and poverty that dog the heels of so many thousands in our large cities. When parents abandon the foolish notions about the respectability of certain grades of employment, and when we have more MacAlisters for teachers, we shall have fewer young men loafing in the cities and advertising for easy and "respectable" employment.

PUBLIC OPINION.

In Missouri Comes Down on the James Verdict.

Great Injury Believed to Have Been Done to the Reputation of the State—The Question of Extradition to Minnesota.

St. Louis, Sept. 8.—Interviews with leading citizens show that the verdict in the Frank James trial is looked upon not only as a judicial farce, but as a misfortune for Missouri. It is acknowledged that the lack of extradition to Missouri is the result of the outrages which have been committed by the bands of freebooters, which since the war, under command of the Younger and James brothers, have given; the name of the Robber state. A prominent citizen named Phil said: "This verdict is a bad thing for the state. From the experience I have had, and I have traveled a good deal the last three years, people charge there is but little immigration to this state because of the bandits here. They say that we have good soil, good mines, and all that, but that life and property are not safe here. This was the general tenor of dozens of opinions by prominent citizens, including members of the merchants' exchange, lawyers, merchants, and bankers. The way in which Missouri is looked upon abroad was shown by Newton Grant, a lawyer, who said the result is a disgrace to the state. "I was in Chicago," he said, "and when the newsboys were crying out that James had been acquitted there was great indignation at the verdict. The general remark was: 'Just like Missouri.'" D. P. Greer, a prominent member of the exchange, alluding to the effect the verdict will have, said: "Frank James and the gang of which he is the leader have done the state of Missouri an amount of harm which is almost irreparable. I thought that the cases were clear enough against him. The feeling which will go out on account of this acquittal is that Missourians sympathize with train-robbing, murder, and lawlessness in general. For the interests of the state, I would wish that the verdict had been the other way." The newspaper press almost unanimously condemns the verdict all over the state.

THE NORTHERN PACIFIC ROBBERY.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Sept. 8.—The news of the acquittal of Frank James, one of the Northern Pacific robbers, on trial at Gallatin, Mo., for the numerous crimes committed in that state, caused considerable comment in this city. It will be remembered that some months ago Gov. Hubbard, at the instance of the county attorney for Rice county, asked for a requisition for James from Gov. Crittenden, of Missouri. This request having been refused, a warrant in custody for crimes committed in that state, held the requisition in abeyance until after his trial there. It is probable that the state of Missouri has not got through with him yet; but if they conclude that it would be impossible to convict him by a "jury of reputable Missourians," he undoubtedly will be turned over to Minnesota, where, if his identity and connection with the famous raid at Northfield is established, he will join his pals, the Younger brothers, at the Stillwater penitentiary. Gov. Hubbard, being with the Villard excursionist in the Yellowstone, Gen. Johnson, his private secretary, was interviewed on the subject. He stated that no return had been made of the requisition papers by Gov. Crittenden, which was probably owing to the fact that he would dispose of the case through the courts of his own state, and it will be impossible to determine his actions now, but the Rice county authorities will pursue the matter until they get James or positive refusal for the granting of the requisition.

St. Joseph, Mo., Sept. 8.—The verdict of the jury in the Frank James case was a surprise here, even to his warm friends—and he has some here who are such. All expected a hung jury, and were unprepared for anything else. The Gazette, the Democratic organ, edited by Major Edwards, one of Frank's friends, said nothing. Edwards accompanied James to Jefferson City when he gave himself up. In an interview the Major said Gov. Crittenden would never give Frank James up to the Minnesota authorities. He would say to them: "This is the closing up of the war. I will break up this gang, and I will do it all the rest of the time, and I will do it in the penitentiary, and I cannot afford to let this man go, for we need have no further fear of him." It is believed that the major speaks officially. The Herald, the stalwart Republican organ, heads a long editorial "Not Guilty," following which are three exclamation points and a like number of interrogation points. The article calls the trial a farce, and declares it no more than they predicted. The Herald says it is no surprise, and a disgrace to the state.

AN INHUMAN HUSBAND.

Sickening Revelations Made in a Chicago Divorce Case.

CHICAGO, Sept. 8.—Eleanor Schwartzhoff, for twenty-five years the wife of a saloon keeper named Theodore Schwartzhoff, brought in a divorce suit in the circuit court, alleging reasons that, if true, will not only entitle her to the separation but her husband to a permanent residence at Joliet. She says that they have had nine children born to them, of whom only one, Maggie, aged 24, is now alive, the others having died in infancy or at birth, as a result of the father's practices. She asserts that in 1861, she being pregnant, he beat her so brutally that her child was born prematurely and soon died. That afterward, whenever she was in a like condition that he pursued the same treatment, so that the eight children born were all prematurely delivered, and none of them survived. Mrs. Schwartzhoff also asserts that from the time that her daughter Maggie arrived at years of maturity the father constantly endeavored, by force and threats, to outrage her, and that the consequence is that both she and her daughter are physical wrecks, their health having been completely shattered by reason of his cruel treatment. The defendant is worth about $10,000, and Judge Moran granted an injunction restraining him from disposing of any of his property.

A Run on a Drug Store.

Never was such a rush made for any drug store as is now at E. Sherer & Co's for a trial bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. All persons affected with Asthma, Bronchitis, Hoarseness, Severe Coughs or any affection of the Throat and Lungs, can get a trial bottle of this great remedy free, by calling at the above drug store. Regular size $1.

THE LABOR QUESTION.

James' Testimony Before the Senate Committee—Other Men's Opinions.

New York, Sept. 8.—Before the senate labor committee John James, ex-president of the Amalgamated Association of Iron and Steel Workers, resumed his testimony. He said the convict labor system was very detrimental to the interests of the working classes. People would not object to it, however, if competition was placed on a fair basis and prison laborers were not allowed to work for a lower price than the current market rate. The labor of convicts might be properly employed in constructing levees, roads, throughout the country. The only hope for the laboring man was to educate him and improve his morals, and he would soon be able to look out for himself. A great wrong was done the iron manufacturers of this country by the high prices which they were charged for ore. A reduction of $2 a ton in the price of ore had been made lately, but the owners of the mines could not further reduce it and still make a handsome profit. The coal mines of Pennsylvania were in a great measure owned by railroad companies, which circumstances the witness thought was very dangerous to the interests of the public. The condition of the 60,000 coal miners of Pennsylvania were pitiable and miserable in the extreme. Their wages were too low; they were subjected to the "truck" system almost universally, and in consequence of their utter demoralization they spent at least one-half of their earnings in drink. The press of New York, in James' opinion, subsidized by large combinations of capital. This feeling, he said, was gaining ground throughout the country. In regard to the protection and tariff question, he thought the press was bought, not only by the monopolies of this country, but by capital imported from abroad.

Senator Blair told the witness he would observe that all these remarks of his would be suppressed by all the papers of this city; that this had been the usual course since the investigation began. William Martin, of Pittsburg, secretary of the A. I. S. W., thought if the system of arbitration could be introduced in all the great industries on all questions which arose between workmen and employers, many of the difficulties resulting from the present relations of the two classes could be avoided. It would prevent strikes and the consequent loss of wages and earnings of capital, and be of benefit to both parties. He favored legislation to that end.

SCANDAL AT THE CAPITAL.

A Case of Gay Widow and Department Clerk Being Officially Investigated.

WASHINGTON CITY, Sept. 8.—A fashionable Washington boarding house was the scene of a great scandal a day or two ago. The lady connected with it is the widow of a brother of a congressman from the south. She holds a position in the treasury department. Her companion is also a department clerk. The widow is young and passably good-looking. The landlady of the house, commencing to suspect that something was wrong, kept a watch over the widow. A day or two later, as the young man in question was going up-stairs to his room to retire for the night, the widow's door was suddenly opened, and he was invited in. The widow was scantily dressed, and she stepped into the hallway to make her arguments more effective. The youth hesitated, and finally went into a chamber. He came out quickly, however, and ran up to his room. A prying boarder had witnessed it all, and the next day told the story to the landlady. A lively scene followed. The young man was engaged to be married to the landlady's daughter, and he had to exert himself to explain the matter to his future mother-in-law. He laid the blame on the woman, drew a picture of how she had tried to ensnare him, and how he had heroically spurned her. Peace was made with him, and he may yet marry the daughter. The widow, however, was treated differently. She was told to leave, and not to stand on the order of her going, either. She has taken up quarters in another establishment. The aggrieved landlady has been since to the chief of the bureau where the widow is employed, laid the facts before him, and asked for her dismissal. The matter is being quietly investigated by the department.

A Clergyman's Testimony.

W. E. Gifford, pastor of M. E. church, Bothwell, Ont., was for two years a sufferer with dyspepsia in its worst form until he took three bottles of Dr. Buckle's Bitters cured him, and he tells us in a recent letter that he considers it the best family medicine now before the country for dyspepsia and liver complaint.

—Mr. R. H. Morris, who went from this city on the second of July, for a visit to Norway, is expected to reach home this evening.

—Mr. Thomas Bowles was on the streets to-day, exhibiting his fine imported bay Norman stallion. The horse was greatly admired by all. He is a beauty.

—There will be services in the Norwegian Lutheran church to-morrow morning at ten o'clock by Rev. T. K. Thorvaldson. A collection will be taken up for our educational institutions.

—Rev. Mr. Pullon, of Christ church, went to Evansville, this afternoon, where he will preach to-morrow, exchanging pulpits with Rev. Mr. Finn, who will occupy the pulpit in Christ church.

—Miss Anna and Fanny Sheldon, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Sheldon, of the fourth ward, and Miss Mary A. Glass, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Glass, will start on Monday for Oberlin, Ohio, to attend Oberlin college.

—The fall and winter services in Trinity church, beginning with to-morrow is—Holy communion at 8 o'clock a. m.; Morning services at 10:30 a. m. Catechetical school and practice 12 to 1 o'clock. Evening prayer at 7:30 p. m.

—Mattie Vickers, that widely known, talented and very popular actress will appear at Myers opera house this evening, in "Juqueline," a comedy that is full of comic spirit. She is thoroughly good, and the play thoroughly entertaining.

—Miss Augie King and her sister Mary, returned last night from Colorado, where they visited several weeks. They climbed the mountains by foot, and saw many points of special interest, and staid in Denver nearly a month. They return in excellent health.

—The municipal court is engaged to-day with a civil suit—Thomas Mackin against Patrick Karney—Pence & Rager and Wm. Smith for plaintiff, and Hyzer & Clark for the defendant. The case is about a lease—the plaintiff endeavoring to obtain possession.

—The members of the Janesville Concordia society will give a social party in their hall, in the Mitchell block, on Tuesday evening, September the 11th, and invite their friends to join with them. Anderson's band will furnish the music. Tickets 50 cents. The dance will continue until one o'clock.

—Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Bowen, of Alexandria, Dakota, who have been visiting old friends in this city for some weeks, left last evening for Beloit, where they will remain a few days with their daughter, Mrs. Dr. Bell, and then proceed to their Dakota home, well pleased with their enjoyable visit with Rock county friends.

—Mr. F. Richardson's boot and shoe store, in Whitewater, was the scene of a little fire on Thursday night. The building was damaged to the extent of two hundred dollars, and the stock received considerable damage by water. Mr. Richardson is a brother of Messrs. Alex. and John Richardson, shoe dealers, of this city.

—Last evening, a farmer while returning home, north of the city, on the Fulton road, met with an accident by which he was considerably bruised. When near the home of Mr. John Pratt, some part of the harness gave way, letting the pole of the wagon down, the horses starting quickly and throwing the farmer to the ground. He was bruised about the head and face, but nothing very serious resulted. We did not learn his name.

—We call attention to the advertisement of J. Obermann & Co., brewers, of Milwaukee. This is one of the oldest established breweries in that city, and Mr. J. Obermann, Sr., is to-day the oldest brewer in Milwaukee. They are brewing an absolutely pure hop and malt beer, and the absence of any hurtful ingredients, makes it particularly desirable for family use. Since its introduction in Janesville it has met with great favor and is being sold by the leading hotels and saloons. Until further notice, Mr. Albert Bender will fill orders for this bottled beer.

—Mr. A. C. Kessig, of the second ward, met with a very painful accident last evening, by which his left hand was badly injured. He was leading one of his horses by an ordinary trace chain. The animal started up, the chain slipped through Mr. Kessig's hand, the hook catching his left hand in such a manner as to enter the palm and bury itself in the flesh. Mr. Kessig was thrown to the ground, and dragged some distance before released. Besides the wound in his left hand, he was otherwise bruised and is quite sore from the effects of the fall, and being dragged on the ground.

—Mr. Archie Galbraith returned home to-day from the state fair at Watonsna, Minnesota, where he has been with a stable of Clydesdale horses belonging to the Galbraith Brothers, of this city. There were eight classes for Clydes, the Galbraiths showing in all of them, and they captured six first prizes and two seconds, which will do for one fair—considering that the competition was very sharp from Illinois, Iowa and Minnesota.

—County Treasurer Miles balanced his bank account to-day, and found that the county had just $8,804.10 on hand, from which the expenses of the county are to be paid until the first of January. There are now over $4,000 in claims, including salaries of county officers, already audited against this amount, which will reduce the sum to $2,800. The board of supervisors will meet in November, when claims to the amount of $10,000 or $12,000 will be passed upon. Evidently the county treasurer will be obliged to borrow money.

—Posey county, Indiana, is noted for its fine watermelons and Janesville people have had an opportunity this year to thoroughly test the quality of the fruit which has been shipped here in large quantities. The latest shipment of five car loads, consigned to W. F. Carle, the enterprising west side groceryman—are neatly packed in baskets made for this purpose, each basket containing a melon and a pound of crushed sugar. Mr. Carle has the thanks of the Gazette office for a sample melon fully equipped as stated, and we predict that this novel manner of putting them up will speedily reduce his stock—after the first frost.

—The Chicago Times of Friday says: "Mr. Mila will lecture at Hooley's theater on the 23d inst., on 'Candles and Footlights—the Church and the Stage.' He begins his season at Janesville, Wis., on September 28th. He will play Hamlet, Rigoletto, Othello, and Iago, Macbeth and Bertrando. He says he is more enthusiastic in his devotion to the dramatic art than ever, and has a stronger intention of devoting his life to the profession. Miss Minerva Guernsey, a Janesville lady, who has been studying six months in Europe, will be his leading lady, and William F. Burroughs his leading male support. Miss Guernsey has been on the platform as a dramatic reader for two years, and is a graduate of the Boston university and school of oratory."

—Dr. Saenk, dentist, on West Milwaukee street, has just received from Chicago, one of Dr. Hanford's patent tooth and mouth otoscopes for the examination of the teeth, mouth and throat. This little instrument enables him to tell to a certainty if the cavity is perfectly cleared of decay before filling; this instrument also shows if the nerve is exposed to the size of the point of a needle, which would be impossible to tell with the eye alone. A great many persons have lost their teeth after having them filled; owing to the fact that the filling was put into the cavity on an exposed nerve, which was so small it could not be detected. The doctor's cabinet contains the latest improved instruments, which enables him to warrant his work to give perfect satisfaction.

—Last evening the school mates of little Annie Cox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Cox, Maria street, second ward, learning that it was her ninth anniversary, made up a happy surprise party for her at the home of her parents. A gay party of little folks assembled and had a real social time during the evening. Among those present were Messrs. Everette Elie, Frank Ott, Frank Schottel, Willie Nesbitt, Frank Cox, Charlie Cox, Charlie Murphy, Fred King, Alfred Jerg, Albert Kienow, Joe Harvey, and Misses Corn Cody, Maria Nesbitt, Lea Fenton, Ada Fenton, Marie Spencer, Clara Spencer, Fanny Connell, Belle Connell, Clyde Randall, Bessie Randall, Nettie Schottel, Lizzie Toepelman, Kittie McGraw, Nellie Cox and Aggie Cox. The little ones engaged in merry making, and after refreshments were served, they all left for their homes, happy at being present at so pleasant a surprise party.

Burglars at Work.
On Thursday night burglars entered the house of Mr. William White, residing about five miles east of this city, in the town of Harmony, taking a pair of pants, in which was a pocket book containing two checks on the Merchants and Mechanics' savings bank of this city, payable to bearer, one for fifty and the other for seventy-five dollars, and twenty-two dollars and some odd change. The burglars, it appears, examined the contents of the pocket book before leaving Mr. White's house, as they left the two bank checks on the kitchen floor. They entered the house through the cellar, making their way into the kitchen, then into the sleeping apartment of Mr. and Mrs. White, neither of whom were awakened. They did not learn of the burglary until morning, when Mr. White arose to put on his pants and found them missing. The checks were given by Mr. Richardson Rooney on Thursday, and it seems to have been extreme good luck for Mr. White that his money was in checks. Mr. Rooney at first was going to pay Mr. White the money, but thinking he might have other use for the amount on hand, he drew the checks on the bank, and Mr. White took them home. He thus saved $125 from falling into the hands of the thieves.

NOTES.
Last night the home of Mr. William Menzies, who resides about one mile east of Mr. White's in the same town, was entered, the burglars succeeding in capturing a gold watch and chain belonging to Mrs. Menzies, valued at $175. In this case the burglars also entered the house through the cellar door. The watch and chain was in a bureau in the bed-room of Mr. Menzies, which they unlocked. Nothing else was taken. Mr. Menzies is of the opinion that he and his wife were chloroformed, as he found great difficulty in waking up, and did not feel right, but stupid. The watch was a lever movement, of the Elgin watch company, named Lady Elgin, and numbered 175,230, including a valuable chain.

Evidently a gang of burglars are at work in the county, and the people should be on their guard to give them a warm reception. They appear to be at work in Beloit, as the following from the Free Press indicates: "An unsuccessful attempt was made to burglarize Alderman J. B. Peet's residence last night. Mr. and Mrs. Peet slept down stairs, and about two o'clock Mrs. Peet, who was awake, heard a noise caused by the moving of a door latch in a room adjoining the sleeping room and leading from a hall. She awoke Mr. Peet, who thought perhaps the servant wanted something, and asked what was wanted, whereupon there was a racket in the hall as though two persons had collided or one had fallen against some furniture, and Mr. Peet then knew there was an intruder in the house and he rushed into the hall, just in time to see a man dart out of the hall door and run down the sidewalk towards Mr. Salmon's house. Mr. Peet stepped to the hall door and, thinking that other thieves might be at work at Mr. Salmon's called lustily to alarm Mr. Salmon. While he was calling out a man standing in Mr. Salmon's yard remarked gruffly: 'Shut up, you d—d old fool!' and fired a pistol, but Mr. Peet cannot say that it was aimed at him, but he went into the house and shut the door not wishing to be made a target of. A subsequent examination of the premises showed that all the outside doors of the house had been tried, and that entrance to the house was effected through a small hall window which had not been fastened. Nothing was taken from the house. Mr. Salmon was awakened by Mr. Peet's calling and heard the report of the pistol and got up, but did not see anybody."

CHAMOIS SKINS.
French oil-dressed chamois skins of superior quality at Prentice & Evenson's for fifty cents each. Fine bath sponges very cheap.

IMPORTANT.—A lady was disappointed the first time she used DeLand's Chemical Baking Powder. Her baking was yellow. The trouble was, she did not allow for the extra strength, which makes only about one-half the quantity necessary. She learned her mistake and now declares it to be the best she ever used.

The Wisconsin Conference.
The thirty-seventh annual session of the Wisconsin Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church will be held at Summerfield church, in Milwaukee, commencing at 9 o'clock a. m., Wednesday, October 3d, continuing five or six days. The proceedings will open with the usual religious exercises, including scriptural reading, singing, prayer, administering the sacrament of the Lord's supper by Bishop Wiley, who will preside over the deliberations of the conference. The state is divided into two conferences, the Wisconsin and the West Wisconsin, the Milwaukee district belonging to the former. The Wisconsin conference is divided into five districts, as follows: Milwaukee, Henry Colman, presiding elder; Janesville, A. J. Mead, presiding elder; Fond du Lac, G. H. Moulton, presiding elder; Appleton, J. M. Walker, presiding elder; Waupun, A. P. Mead, presiding elder.

The conference has a membership of about 175, and 195 churches and missions, and 111 parsonages. The church edifices are valued at $1,123,000. The total number of full members of the Methodist church in the five districts of the conference is estimated at about 13,000, of which Milwaukee has nearly 3,000.

In the districts named there are 220 Sunday schools, with 2,363 officers and teachers, and attended by nearly 15,000 scholars of all ages.

At the conclusion of the religious exercises, the conference will proceed to business by the appointment of the usual standing committees, twenty-seven in number. The business during the conference will consist of reports of the principal reports to be presented and acted upon will be that of the treasurer, committees of education, printing, tracts, temperance and tobacco, Freedmen's aid society, and Woman's foreign missionary societies. Several eulogistic addresses upon the life and character of deceased members will be delivered during the session.

Probably the most important business of the whole session will be the appointment of pastors to the various churches in the conference for the ensuing year.—Evening Wisconsin.

authentic by PRENTICE & EVENSON, DRUGGISTS.
At seven o'clock this morning the thermometer registered 42 degrees above zero. Clear with north wind. At one o'clock p. m. the register was 61 degrees above zero. Partly cloudy with north wind. For the corresponding hours one year ago the register was 62 and 76 degrees.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8, 1 a. m.—The following are the indications for to-day:
Upper Lake Region—Rain, followed by clearing weather, in the southeast portions, fair weather in the northern portions, northeast to northwest winds, generally cold weather and frosts, rising, followed in northwest portions, by falling barometer.

Dr. Fishblatt will open his permanent medical dispensary in Janesville next month, October. His office he intends to have in the central part of the city, and he has taken a five years' lease of Mrs. P. Myers' mansion, for his private residence, expecting to buy it during that time. Duocutic will appear on opening in his column advertisement. He treats chronic diseases as a specialty. Having been a professor in the Atlanta, Ga., medical college, also editor of the New York Medical and Surgical Journal, for many
